HOPE FOR VISIT OF 11 GOVERNORS

Governor of Massachusetts will Visit Gettysburg Next Month.
Party of Ten Western Governors
May Visit Battlefield.

Gettysburg may look forward to the visit of one governor and possibly eleven within the two months. Governor Foss of Massachusetts with a large party of state officials will visit Gettysburg on November 15 enroute to the South where they will take part in the dedication of a Massachusetts monument on a southern battlefield.

The first week in December it is hoped that Gettysburg may have the distinction of entertaining a party of ten western governors who will tour the east on a 5000 mile trip. They will spend December 4 in Harrisburg and December 5 in Baltimore. Gettysburg may be visited between the two cities.

For twenty one days the train will run nightly from one city to another, spending a day and an evening in practically every city visited. The population of the cities which the chief executives will make on their tour is over 12,500,000. They have a score of invitations from other cities which it will be impossible for them to accept.
Those cities which were certain to be on the itinerary have notified Governor Brady that they will be there with a reception equalled only by that tendered Eastern people and their public men when they tour the West. This is the schedule of the Governors' special, which will leave St. Paul the evening of November 27:

Chicago, November 28; Indianapolis,
November 29; Louisville, Ky., November 30; Cincinnati, December 1;
Dayton and Columbus, December 2;
Pittsburgh, December 4; Harrisburg,
December 5; Baltimore, December 6;
Washington, December 7; Philadelphia,
December 8; New York City, December 9; Albany, December 11; Utica and Syracuse, December 12; Rochester, December 14; Buffalo, December 14; Cleveland, December 15; Toledo and Detroit, December 16; Grand Rapids and Kalamazoo, December 18; return to St. Paul, December 19.

President Taft has notified Governor Brady that when the party arrives in Washington he desires officially to receive and entertain the party.

These are the Governors who are planning to make the trip: Oberholtzer, of Minnesota; Burke, of North Dakota; Vessey, of South Dakota; Carey, of Wyoming; Shafroth, of Colorado;
Norris, of Montana; Hawley, of Idaho;
West, of Oregon; Hay, of Washington;
and Johnson, of California. Each Governor will be accompanied by two state officials or prominent citizens whom they may select. Five of the directors of the Panama-Pacific exposition directors will also accompany the party.

Returning to St. Paul the Governors have invited their United States senators and representatives to meet them for a three days' conference on uniformity of action for the development and settlement of the American northwest.

FEET BURNED AS HE SLEPT

John Newman, Town Boy in Service of United States Army, only a Few Weeks has Uncomfortable Experience in the Mountain.

John Newman, son of Street Commissioner Edward Newman and Mrs.
Newman, recently enlisted in Company G, Fifth United States Infantry and in a letter to his parents tells of one of his first experiences as a soldier.

He had gone on a hike with a portion of his regiment into the Adirondack Mountains and all slept under little dog tents. The temperature was low and many of the soldiers made camp fires. While the Gettysburg soldier was asleep the blankets in which he had wrapped himself caught fire and he awoke too find his foot painfully burned and the blankets in flames.

It was with some difficulty that he put out the fire and escaped without more serious injuries. He was taken back to the post in an ambulance and is suffering a great deal from the burns.

The many friends of Gettysburg's most recent army recruit will be interested to know that he is enjoying soldier life. He likes New York and writes home that although the thermometers register below the freezing point he enjoys greatly sleeping out.
He speaks in glowing terms of the state's apple yield.

RATTLESNAKES SCARE CHARMER

The Whitmer boys, sons of Billy Whitmer, the famous rattle snake hunter of South Mountain, had 75
native rattlers, captured near Pen Mar, on exhibition at the Frederick fair. The reptiles are from three to seven feet in length and keep up a continuous alarm with their rattles.

Both boys handle the snakes as an ordinary person would a kitten, and apparently have no fear of being bitten. In case they are bitten they quickly apply to the wound a remedy made at home by members of the Whitmer family and go on with their performance as if nothing had occurred.

During the week a professional snake charmer who had very large reptiles made light of Whitmer's seven-foot snakes and offered to go in the pit and handle them. The man had hardly climbed over the side when three, lying apparently dormant, struck at him. Almost in an instant a dozen others rose to strike him, and the charmer, nearly frightened to death, cleared the side of the enclosure and was quickly lost in the crowd.

Young Whitmer immediately resumed his place among the reptiles and handled them as if nothing had happened. He is fond of his snakes and frequently takes a big diamond rattler to bed with him at night.

THAT TOBACCO QUESTION

The Carroll Record of Taneytown
says:

Students for the ministry at Gettysburg are not permitted to use tobacco;
that is, those receiving aid from the Synods. So we have another illustration of the objectionableness of being poor and dependent. Apparently students who pay their own way through these institutions, as well as all who graduate, may use the weed, as there is then no threat of withholding support to use against them. "Consistency, etc."

MAKES REVERSIBLE TURBINE ENGINE

Gentleman Living in Western End of County Shows Sufficient Inventive Genius to Manufacture New Form of Engine.

John Kugler, of route 2 Fairfield, who some time ago invented a new type of turbine engine and whose intention at that time was to get a reverse on the engine, has succeeded in doing so.

The test was made this week with the engine attached to the boiler belonging to Eiker Brothers. Quite a crowd had gathered to witness the test which worked to perfection. When the steam was let into the engine it immediately started off without any trouble at all and with very low steam pressure.

This Mr. Kugler claims is an entirely new type of engine as the reversible turbine engines have never before proved a success. They are greatly needed especially on the great ships in case of a necessity for quick reversal of engines.

LATEST STORY OF "EDDIE" PLANK

Dispatch from Philadelphia Tells of his Father Seeing the Game and how he Rejoiced in his Son's Victory. Hopes for More.

A dispatch from Philadelphia says:
Amid all the chorus of jubilation
over the two successes of the Mack-men there rings a cheery note of a wish that has been satisfied with long deferred hope. The parent of the wish is the father of Eddie Plank, D. L.
Plank, and he is a prominent resident of Mount Pleasant township, Adams County, where his farm supplies the truck and milk for many families in the surrounding places.

When the great southpaw of the Mack tribe humbled a brother of the southside delivery, Marquard, in the second clash between Athletics and Giants, this ardent desire on the part of Plank, Sr., was gratified.

For he has always wanted to see his son win a game in the world's series, and through eleven years his wish has not been granted. When the present teams were fighting for the title of world's champions, five years ago, it was Plank that opened the series, twirling against Mathewson, at the old Athletic park, corner of Columbia avenue and Twenty ninth street.

Matty won, as he did in every game
he pitched in the series, but Plank pitched marvelous ball.

Eddie himself was disappointed at his two defeats—the first by Matty and the second by Iron Man McGinnity, but his father cheered him up, though the latter's heart was heavy to see his son whipped.

The elder Plank has always hoped that Eddie would be in another world's series. So last year, unknown to Eddie, he came down to Shiloh park feeling that his southpaw son would be pitched in the second game against the Cubs. But the exigencies of the occasion did not require Eddie's services, so Plank's pere did not have the happy spectacle presented to him of seeing victory perch on the banner of the junior member of the family.

But the father of the Planks was not downcast a bit. "You'll get in some day, Ed," said sire to son, "and you'll lick 'em, too."

Last Monday Mr. Plank got a splendid seat where he could watch the battle. He saw his son pitch one of the greatest games in his career on the most notable occasion that has dotted the life of the southpaw.

When the last Giant had died like a pigmy, Plank, the elder, was the most supremely happy man this side of Elysium. He cheered, he roared, he smiled, and he was the proudest papa of a father in Christendom to hear him tell of it, and he didn't fail to do a lot of that, either.

"Great day for Eddie," said he.
"He pitched a nice game of ball. I've wanted to see just such a thing as this for eleven years. Now I'm happy and there isn't anything that I want except—"

Here the deep-seamed face was illuminated, the keen gray eyes flashed with a brilliant light as he said:

"Except to see Eddie win another one and take the series."

Perhaps paternal pride may be satisfied in this matter, too. At least all loyal followers of the Athletics hope it will be true.

WEATHER STOPS 4TH GAME OF SERIES

Renew Battle For World's Cham- pionship Monday.

Philadelphia, Oct. 21.—Some of these days when the rainfall ceases the fourth game of the world's series between the Athletics, of the American League, and the New York Giants, of the National League, will be played.

For the fourth time the "No Game Today" sign was hung out today at Shibe Park, and a handful of fans who were in line for tickets slowly dispersed. With clearing weather late today or tonight and a little sunshine tomorrow the grounds should be in first class condition for Monday.

With five days' rest for the pitchers New York will greatly benefit. It is now believed that McGraw will pitch Mathewson on Monday in an attempt to even up in the series.

Connie Mack will not announce any definite plans in regard to his twelfth selection, but Bender still remains the best possible bet. However, it may be recalled that Jack Combs was sent in two days in succession last year against Chicago and won both engagements. Combs is longing to take an other fling at the Giants, as he believes he can beat Mathewson's world series record. Jack now has four world series victories dangling from his belt, and no defeats. Mathewson has four victories and one defeat. If Combs can pitch another victory he will stand high in the pitchers' hall of fame.

CHINESE REBELS WIN BATTLE

Imperial Troops Routed After Two Days' Fight.

GUNBOATS ALSO RETREAT

Government Forces Driven Back at Hankow and Warship Sunk By Its Crew, Who Deserted.

Hankow, Oct. 21.—After two days' fighting the revolutionists have won a decided victory over the imperial troops, which have been forced to retreat to a point ten miles north of Hankow.

With the defeat of the troops the loyalist gunboats dropped down the river several miles out of range of fire. The vessel, however, was sunk in the river by its crew, who deserted to the rebels.

When the fighting ceased on Wednesday evening the revolutionists took up a strong position. Reinforcements for the rebels arrived during the night and early next morning a force fully 5000 strong commenced an advance on the imperial encampment.

This was conducted cautiously. On the march the rebels burned hundreds of huts, fearing an ambush.

The loyalist infantry made a faint show of resistance, while the imperial gunboats threw a few shells ineffectively. The shots from the warships fell wide of the mark and failed to dislodge a rebel field gun which had been made the special object of attack. When the Republican scouts reached the imperial camp they found it deserted, but suspicious of a ruse, volleyed in all directions. Then the main body entered, waving banners and shouting in jubilation.

The loyalist evacuation was so hurried that they left many tents and six carloads of baggage and ammunition.

The rebel army is now entrenched in camp three miles from Hankow. The loyalists have halted seven miles further north, where they are awaiting reinforcements.

In the fighting the telegraph office at Hankow was burned and the lines to Peking and Shanghai for a mile before the settlement were destroyed. Messengers now are sent out by wireless for the foreign warships or are sent by courier to Kiu-Kiang, where they are retransmitted over the land lines.

Exemplary Conduct of Rebels.

Shanghai, Oct. 21.—The retreat of the imperialists at Hankow is confirmed in dispatches from Kiu-Kiang, which state that the Chinese gunboats are retreating to Kiu-Kiang, because Admiral Sah Chen Ping could not trust their crews.

The conduct of the rebels is reported to be exemplary. Martial law is being enforced. The rebel successes caused great jubilation among the Chinese. Previously they had been downcast.

As viewed in Shanghai the Chinese who are not openly identified with either the loyalist or revolutionary cause appear like a flock of sheep, hesitating and pretty certain to follow the majority when they are sure of the probable outcome.

Everything depends upon the result of the first few battles. Local sympathy is with the rebels, who will be supplied openly with funds if they seem likely to win.

Up to now the revolutionary element in Shanghai has conducted its campaign with great strategy. There are practically no Manchus in this section. Two English newspapers now speak of "constitutionalists" instead of "revolutionists."

It is stated that the plans of the rebels do not contemplate the destruction of bridges over the Yellow river. Their object is rather to lure the imperial troops south and then bring about an uprising in the north of China, thus placing the imperialists between two fires.

The ultimate purpose is to make one of the cities on the Han river capital of the empire.

Many train loads of refugees from Nankin and Hangchow are arriving in Shanghai daily.

There are a total of eighteen foreign warships at Hankow and others are proceeding there. Many foreign vessels are also at other ports on the Yang-Tze-Kiang. The American ships at Hankow are the gunboats Villalobos, Helena and El Cano.

The American torpedo boats Bainbridge, Barry and Dale are now at Shanghai.

Accept Resignation of Dr. G. H. Denny.
Lexington, Va., Oct. 21.—The resignation of Dr. George Hutchinson Denny, president of Washington and Lee university, was formally accepted by the university board of trustees. He will assume the duties of president of the University of Alabama at the beginning of the year. A committee of three was appointed to undertake the selection of a successor to Dr. Denny.

Find Rare Coin in Field.
Marietta, Pa., Oct. 21.—H. H. Zerpey, of Florin, found in a field a piece of English money 173 years old. The coin is in good condition, though it had evidently been in the ground for a long period. The date 1738 is plainly visible, as is also the inscription of George III Rex, Britannia.

WILL PROSECUTE TRUSTS

President Heatedly Answers Criticisms of Administration's Policy.

New Castle, N.Y., Oct. 21.—President Taft told an audience here that the administration would continue to push the enforcement of the Sherman anti-trust law "no matter whether we be damned or not."

Mr. Taft gave a general account of the work of his administration and his aims when he jumped once more into the question of trust prosecutions, answering them with even more heat than he has exhibited heretofore the criticism his trust breaking policy. He said:

"Just as we are about to reach a proper and successful prosecution of that law we begin to find that there are some people that object to the administration on account of the fact that we prosecute those trusts and enforce the law."

"It is a case where the administration is in the situation of being damned if it does, and damned if it does not. It is pretty hard to satisfy some people, but our understanding in the administration is that when the president lifted his hand to defend the constitution and enforce the laws it meant something, and when there was a law upon the statute books, there for twenty years to suppress these combinations that monopolize and interfere with interstate trade, that it was his business and the business of all under him to enforce the law and that is what we are doing, and that is what we are going to do whether we are damned or not."

TURKS FIGHT HARD TO KEEP BENGHAZI

Defy Italian Fleet and Give Battle to Landing Party.

Benghazi, Tripoli, Oct. 21.—The Italian fleet under Rear Admiral Aubrey bombarded this city and landed 4000 men who, after a brisk battle, occupied a portion of the town.

The greater part of the troops, however, camped on the beach. The Turks refused to surrender and made a stubborn resistance.

The expeditionary force instructed to occupy Benghazi arrived in the roadstead Wednesday morning, conveyed by the Italian battleships Vittorio Emanuele III, Roma, Napoli and Regina Elena, the cruisers Amalfi and Etruria, five smaller warships and two torpedo boat divisions.

Rear Admiral Aubrey sent an officer with a white flag to the Turkish commander, demanding the surrender of the town. The Turk promptly refused and was notified by the Italian commander that unless he capitulated before 6 o'clock the following morning the town would be bombarded.

No reply having been received to the Italian threat the bombardment began at the hour set. The shelling by the fleet continued until 9 o'clock, when a detachment of sailors and troops was debarked. Other landing parties followed.

The first Italians to come ashore were received with a sharp rifle fire from the Turks. The Italians, establishing a position near the water's edge, stood the Turkish fire. They were rapidly reinforced from the fleet and later took the barracks in the village of Sidl Housseln by assault. They also took and held a part of Benghazi.

Court Decides Faro Is Gambling.

Washington, Oct. 21.—After hearing expert testimony to determine whether or not a gambling game or just "harmless amusement," the district supreme court refused judgment to J. A. Carroll, said to be a former faro bank operator of Augusta, Ga., who sued Randolph T. Warwick, a Washington business man, to recover a "stopped" check for $1300. The check was given to cover losses on the Augusta layout. The court decided that faro was gambling.

Two Women For the Jury.

San Jose, Cal., Oct. 21.—Miss Sarah Alice Vale, aged thirty-seven, and Mrs. Imogene Saverker, aged fifty-two, two of the first women in Santa Clara county to be placed upon the register as voters, are the first women since the passage of the suffrage amendment to be summoned as jurors in California. They will appear in a battery case. Miss Vale is a bookkeeper and Mrs. Saverker is the mother of six children. Both have consented to act.

HOME FROM A VOYAGE

By WILTON C. BROOKS

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

I courted Nance while I was going to sea, and a man courtin' a gal that way feels every time he comes back from a cruise that some feller has stepped in and carried her off, but Nance was as much set on me as I was on her, and every time I docked on a home-comin' she was standin' at the door of her father's cottage wavin' to me.

After we was married and we got into our own house around the point where the light stands, whenever I rounded it to make the harbor, there was Nance a-wavin' to me. But one time comin' in from a cruise when I rounded the point Nance wasn't there to wave to me. My heart sank down into my boots, for she could 'a' seen me miles out, and she knew the cut of my jib and the lurch of my ship as well as she knew her own mother.

Nance and I had been married five years without gettin' a kid. It was the only disappointment we had. Nance said and I knew that if she had a little one to keep her company when I was at sea she wouldn't be so lonesome. But the kid didn't come, and we began to feel that we were doomed to be one of them couples that go through life makin' a baby out of a dog or a cat or some other animal.

But the day I got back and Nance wasn't at the door to wave to me I wasn't thinkin' about what I couldn't get, but what I feared I'd lost. The moment we touched the dock I turned the ship over to the first mate and steered a direct course to my house.

When I got there I found the door unlocked. This relieved me somewhat, for if my wife had died while I was at sea the house would 'a' been closed up. I went in, my heart beatin' with a hope o' seein' Nance either in the livin' room sewin' or in the kitchen or somewhere downstairs. But she was not there, and I made a dash upstairs for her bedroom. The door to that I found locked. I knocked, but got no answer. I could hear voices inside talkin' low, but nobody said anything to me. I holloed out: "I want to know if my wife is dead or alive!"

Then a woman's voice, strange to me, said: "She's very much alive, but hasn't been well for a few days. She's all right. She saw the ship come in from her window."

"Well, why the dickens can't I come in and give her a hug?"

"It wouldn't do for you to come in just now. I can't explain why, but when we're ready for you we'll let you know."

"All right. I'm wanted at the ship. I'll go there and come back in a couple o' hours."

As I was goin' down the stairs I heard the funniest sound comin' from the room I ever heard. At first it reminded me of a distant foghorn, so far away that a man would have to strain his ears to hear it. Then I thought it wasn't like a foghorn neither. It was more like some one tryin' to talk with a sore throat. I didn't like the idea o' leavin' everything to my mate on just gettin' into port, so I didn't stop to make any more inquiries. I just went on across the point toward the dock.

Reachin' a high bit of land, I turned to take a look at the house I had left, kind o' wonderin', and if I didn't see a man comin' out o' the front door I'll be figgered! What did it mean? Here was I kept out o' my wife's bedroom and a man in the house. A horrible suspicion took possession of me. But with a gasp I got back my confidence in Nance, and then I remembered that the voice in the room with her was a woman's. So I just went right on to the ship.

I found that she had been docked without any accident, but there was a lot of things to do that can only be done by the master of a ship that's just come in from a cruise, and I didn't get away from the ship till the day was about over. Then I started back home, beginnin' again to wonder what was the meanin' of all the strange things that had happened. Somepin must a gone wrong durin' my absence and they was fixin' things up to break it to me.

When I walked into the house I heard some one in the kitchen and, goin' there, saw a young woman in a striped dress cookin' a bird. Nance wasn't the kind to spend money for such delicacies, and I marveled some more.

"See here," I said to the gal, "somepin gone wrong since I been away. A trouble has come into this house, and I want to know right off what's the matter."

By jing, she burst out a-lartin'.

"I reckon you'll find it some trouble," she said, "before you get through with it. Such happenin's always turn a house upside down. It's never the same place it was before. But wait a minute till I put this bird on a tray and we'll go upstairs."

Purty soon she started, I follerin'. On the way I heard that hoarse talkin' sound ag'in. The young woman asked me to open the door, she holdin' the tray with both hands, and I saw Nance lyin' in bed lookin' pale, but smilin', and a nice round lump o' flesh beside her.

Then I understood the hull scheme. She had planned a surprise for me. I just took her and the little duffer in my arms, and that was the happiest moment o' my life.

S. McEicholtz FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER

The office of Commissioner is the one office within the gift of the county that should most deeply interest the taxpayer. The County Commissioner can more than any other man, squander the resources of the county, or by careful and economical administration of the office, save the county thousands of dollars annually. It goes then without saying that only men of known business ability, utmost integrity and thorough honesty should be elected to the office. To this latter class belongs our candidate, S. McEicholtz, of Menallen Twp., a staunch and loyal Democrat. Starting but a few years ago upon borrowed capital, he has, by the exercise of keen business judgment, honesty in dealing and strict economy, risen to an enviable financial position in his community. None can say aught against him. Even those, who from party reasons are working hardest to defeat him, admit there is nothing against either his fitness for the office or his character as a man. This is the candidate we are presenting to you Mr. Voter. Vote for him.

A NEIGHBOR.

GEO. W. IRWIN of HIGHLAND TOWNSHIP

George W. Irwin, who has announced his candidacy for Director of the Poor, will prove a strong man at the Election. He is a farmer by occupation, residing in Highland Township. OUR SENSITIVE PLANET.

Constant Changes in the Shape of the Earth's Crust.

One naturally thinks of the earth's crust as being exceedingly solid and stable, except perhaps in volcanic regions where earthquakes are of frequent occurrence. As a matter of fact, however, the shell of our planet is extremely sensitive and most delicately balanced, so that under the influences of causes that seem altogether insignificant in comparison with the gigantic bulk and weight of the earth it yields and fluctuates in a most amazing manner.

To an eye so placed as to be capable of taking in at one comprehensive glance the whole round outline of the globe it would not appear of precisely the same shape during an entire day or even an hour. Most of the changes referred to are, of course, very slight when compared with the size of the earth itself.

The operation of atmospheric and oceanic and other similar causes is continually bringing about changes in the shape of the earth's crust. One of the most interesting of the agencies whereby such alterations are effected is the carrying power of rivers. Wherever a great quantity of sand and gravel is being brought down from the interior of a continent and poured into the sea, as, for instance, along the northwestern coast of Europe or the Gulf coast of the United States, the weight of the earth's crust is slowly increasing, and the consequence is seen in the gradual subsidence of the shore.

Such a sinking has been going on for thousands of years along the North sea coast and on the continental side of the British channel. A similar depression is occurring on the eastern edge of our own country and along the Gulf of Mexico. It has been estimated that the Gulf coast is sinking at the rate of nearly two feet in a century.

Corresponding elevations must, of course, occur elsewhere. And to these slow changes in the level of the earth's crust earthquakes are due as well as to the more violent local disturbances created by volcanic action.—Harper's Weekly.

Three Mystic Words.

A young woman of Indianapolis, says the News of that city, had much attention, and one of her admirers from another city was a liberal donor of flowers and sweets, and when possible he came to town to visit her. One day he sent her a five pound box of candy, a dozen American Beauty roses and a telegram announcing that he would be in the city the next Sunday to spend the day with her. In addition to this he sent the following message: "International code—Isle of View."

She had no idea what the three mystic words might signify, and she got out all the code books she could find and finally went to the telegraph office to see if that department had the combination of words and the meaning. The telegraph company could give her no assistance. She thought the words over and over again and began to say them aloud. Suddenly it dawned on her—"I love you."

Boston, Oct. 21.—Charged with the murder of Miss Avis Linnell, a pretty choir singer and music student, to whom he was attentive and to whom he is reported to have been engaged before he broke with her to become a suitor for the hand of Miss Violet Edmonds, a rich Brookline society girl, Rev. Clarence Virgil Thompson Richeson is in the Charles street jail here held without bail. The case is one of the most sensational and dramatic that New England ever has known.

William B. Watts, deputy superintendent of police, declares that Richeson was arrested on information substantiated by the police that he had bought a quantity of cyanide of potassium at a drug store in Newton Centre on Oct. 19. This was the poison which caused Miss Linnell's death.

Richeson, a young, handsome, brilliant man, is the idol of his large and wealthy congregation of the Immanuel Baptist church, of Cambridge, and his wedding on Oct. 31 to Miss Edmonds was to have been one of the brilliant society events of the fall season. Instead he will be arraigned on for the murder of Miss Linnell.

The young minister was arrested in the Edmonds home, following the discovery of what the police declare to be proof positive that he had recently bought cyanide of potassium, the deadly drug that killed Miss Linnell.

The police say that they have evidence that Rev. Mr. Richeson bought the poison which killed the girl, with whom he had been friendly and to whom he was at one time reported engaged. The information was given to them by William Hahn, a druggist at Newton Centre. Hahn has known Rev. Richeson well from the time the young minister was a student at the Newton Theological school. From Hahn's tale the poison was bought by Rev. Richeson on Oct. 19.

"I was in my store on the afternoon of Oct. 19, when Rev. Richeson dropped in," said the druggist. "I knew him well from his student days, but had not seen him for a long time. He greeted me cordially and then began to complain about a dog he had. He said that the animal was whining and growling continually and he wanted to put it out of the way. I told him that I didn't know that he had a dog, but he said that he had, and then went on to describe it.

"When he spoke of killing the dog I suggested that he chloroform it, but he said that this would cause too much of a smell. Besides, he wanted something that would do the work quickly.

"Then I said: 'Well, here is some cyanide of potassium. That will kill it quickly enough,' and the minister said, 'Well, give me some of that.' I warned him that it was dangerous stuff and told him to be very careful about using it. Then I gave him enough to kill three or four dogs. When I had placed this in the paper the minister said, 'Well, you had better put in some more.' So I added two or three chunks to what I had already ladled out. What I gave him was enough to kill at least ten persons.

"After he had received the cyanide, Rev. Richeson said to me: 'You will receive an invitation to my wedding, and I don't want you to fail to come to it.' Then he added, 'This may seem very mysterious to you. Can you keep a secret? You know I haven't bought this. Keep it to yourself.' With that he went away and I haven't seen him since."

The wedding of Miss Edmonds and the clergyman was to have taken place on Oct. 31 in the First Baptist church, at Newton Centre. More than 700 invitations had been sent out for the wedding.

Avis Linnell, nineteen years old, whose home was at Hyannis, Mass., was found dead in the bathroom of the Young Women's Christian Association home in Boston last Saturday evening. At first it was believed that she had committed suicide, but later developments indicated that she had unknowingly taken cyanide of potassium given or sent her by some other person, and which she used in the belief that it would remedy physical conditions which were causing anxiety.

Miss Linnell had previously been a friend of Richeson, and it was understood at Hyannis that an engagement existed. Later the clergyman became engaged to Miss Edmonds, whose father is a trustee of the Newton Theological institution, where Richeson studied for the ministry.

Richeson is thirty-five years old and is a native of Rose Hill, Va. He attended William Jewell college, Liberty, Mo., in 1906. Later he took the ministerial course and was graduated from the Newton Theological institution. He was ordained to the ministry in St. Louis. His pastorate at Hyannis was his first regular charge.

HUNDRED MEN

SEARCH FOR CHILD

No Trace of Boy Parents Fear Was Stolen.

Harrisburg, Pa., Oct. 21.—More than 100 men began a systematic search of the York county hills and the Susquehanna river, in the vicinity of Wrightsville, in the hope of finding Charles Archibald Ely, the two-year-old son of Hiram Ely, a wealthy lumberman, who disappeared just north of Wrightsville on Wednesday.

The Susquehanna river at Marietta was dragged, but no more trace of the boy was found than by the man who searched the wooded hills.

The kidnapping theory is passing away, especially as no demand has been made on the boy's parents for ransom. Now it is feared that the child wandered into the deep woods near his home along the river and fell into a ravine.

Eight minutes elapsed between the time Mrs. Ely last saw the child and its disappearance. Mrs. Ely went to the cellar on a household errand, and when she returned the child was gone. The father believes that the boy has been kidnapped, but others say the little fellow was lured into the woods by ripening chestnuts and became lost and is now probably dead of starvation.

Another theory is that the child wandered to the Susquehanna river and fell in. Mr. Ely operates a saw mill along the shore, and his children often play there.

While the police officers are by no means inactive in the search for the boy, the experienced men doubt that any kidnapping has taken place. They believe that the boy has merely wandered away.

TWELVE DROWN IN MINE SHAFT

Blast Breaks Barrier Holding Water in Old Working.

NO CHANGE OF ESCAPE

In Less Than a Minute the Water Was Over Their Heads and They Were Obligated to Swim.

Hibernia, N. J., Oct. 21.—Twelve men were drowned here when a blast destroyed a partition between two of the shafts in the iron mines of the Wharton Steel company and let a great quantity of water, accumulated in an old shaft, flood the gallery where they were at work.

All the victims were foreigners, excepting David Slaght, foreman of the gang, who lost his life in trying to aid his men.

The accident occurred in what is known as the New Langdon shaft. Sixty men were at work there. Between this shaft and the abandoned one was a partition of logs. A blast fired soon after the day shift went to work weakened this barrier so that it gave way before the pressure of the water in the adjoining gallery.

In less than a minute the water was over the miners' heads and they were obliged to swim in the darkness toward the opening leading to a higher level.

The place where they were at work was about 300 feet below the surface. Those who lost their lives were unable to swim or were pushed down by their struggling mates.

Slaght, the foreman, was in a position of safety when the shaft was flooded, but he rushed into the water to assist the drowning men. He was caught there with the other victims.

It may be many hours before the bodies are recovered, as the water first must be pumped out of the shaft. All the miners lived in the neighborhood and most of them had families.

CONSTRUCTING ROADS BY PUMPING IN NEW JERSEY

Holly Beach Turnpike Reclaimed From Sandy Marsh Land.

A novel method of road construction was adopted by the road supervisor of Cape May (N. J.) county in 1910 in constructing what is known as the Holly Beach turnpike. Holly Beach, Wildwood and Angelsea are separated from the mainland by meadows which are often covered with water at high tide. As nothing edible is raised on the beach and all provisions must be brought over from the mainland, it is essential that there be a convenient and reliable road between the two. Up to last year there has been a road a little over three miles long which was built across the meadow upon poles laid on the surface of the ground. This road, as well as the meadows, was frequently covered by high tides, rendering the road impassable at times.

Last year the road was rebuilt four feet higher than the old one, or about five feet above the meadow. This so far this year has been sufficient to prevent its being covered by any high tide which has occurred. There was also at one place a 1 per cent grade, but the maximum grade has been reduced to 0.6 per cent. This road was made by lining each side of the roadway, about thirty feet, with sills and fences and then pumping a mixture of sand and water on to the roadway. In this way sand was deposited about three feet to three feet six inches deep. This was then leveled off and a gravel surface applied which varies from nine inches in depth in the center to three inches on the outer edges, the roadbed being thirty feet wide. This furnishes a good hard road for the travel which has so far made use of it.

The total length of the road was 16,004 feet, of which a gravel surface was furnished to 15,325 feet. The earth excavation amounted to 355 cubic yards and the embankment to 177,943 cubic yards. In connection with the filling 11,261 lineal feet of road had fencing and curbing applied to both sides. The gravel cost $1.744 per cubic yard, the excavation 20 cents, the sand embankment 20 cents, the curbing 4 cents per lineal foot (each side of the road) and the retaining fence 94 cents per lineal foot. The total cost of the three miles was $56,530.57, to which is to be added $5,477.94 for supervisor's salary, engineering expenses and certain extras.

You Can Have Wealthy Hair

Use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur, A Harmless Remedy That Makes the Hair Grow.

No one, young or old, need have gray hair, weak, thin or falling hair, dandruff or any trouble of the sort if they would but use Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy. On the contrary, it is possible to have healthy, vigorous hair, of perfect color, by a few applications of this remarkable preparation.

Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy quickly removes dandruff, leaves the scalp clean and healthy, promotes the growth of the hair and restores the natural color of the hair which has become faded or gray. A SIMPLE, PRACTICAL WATER SYSTEM.

Our pictures tell the simple story how an inexpensive water system may be installed for household, poultry plant, the barn, greenhouse or truck patch.

The fellow who has such a convenience for poultry has a cinch, for carrying water by bucket or barrel is a job. The pump is a simple force pump, here run by gasoline engine, but it may also be run by hand or windmill. Note connection to pipe.

The water may go direct from pump through to poultry yard or water trough, or it may be pumped into an outside or an inside tank and may be piped from there to place of use.

In the poultry yards it may run through long troughs or be caught in

OUTSIDE TANK.

Individual vessels, the surplus being carried off by drains.

This is especially a convenience where many ducks are raised, as they drink and "slop" much water.

An artificial pond may thus be made for breeding ducks and a place where market ducks may wash off before shipping.

While it is a dirty falsehood that farmers never wash because they have no bathtub, it is also absurd to think that they cannot have all the conveniences when such a system affords them so easily.

DON'TS.

Don't be two faced. However thick a mask may be, it cannot hide duplicity.

Don't condemn what others do by retail when you do the same by wholesale.

Don't advertise if you are a burglar. Otherwise, to win the prize, you must advertise.

Don't force pupils to lay early. Perfect maturity is what makes the layer. That's a stayer and a payer.

THE FARM LAWYER.

The New York courts hold that a certificate of deposit is not a negotiable instrument.

Where a note is voluntarily destroyed by the payee for the purpose of canceling it no action can be maintained on it as a lost instrument by the payee or any other person for him.

A railroad ticket for transportation paid for at the ordinary rate is not a contract within itself, but a mere evidence of contract which the law creates and which lies behind the ticket.

Capacity to understand the effect of making one's will and not actually understanding is the test of mental capacity to make a will.

ECONOMY OF SHEEP.

Improve Fertility and Take Nothing From the Soil.

When the small farmer adopts a permanent system of farming he will turn to sheep. He must have some way to conserve his soil fertility, and of all farm animals the sheep stands supreme in this particular, writes George McKerron in the Orange Judd Farmer. The part that they have played in the development of other farming districts, notably England, should attest their value in intensive farming.

The type of sheep required for the small farm and the profit which can be derived from them when rightly kept is too little known. It is hard to realize that they can be made profitable by feeding on grain and tame hay, while heretofore they have roamed over and lived through a large part of the year on the native grass. But such is possible if we will only go at it in the right way.

In getting a flock the first thing to consider is the breed. It must be adapted to conditions. One essential is to get a type that can produce a prime mutton carcass and a heavy fleece at the same time. The dual purpose sheep has become a reality.

The Cheviot sheep has a fleece that is moderately long, straight and free from kemp (or the short coarse hairs that go by this name) and covers well all parts of the body down to the hocks. The ewes are excellent milkers and good mothers, losing few lambs even when untended by the shepherd. They are very docile and not given to straying. The fleece of the Cheviot weighs five to seven pounds in the ewes and a half more in the lambs. Ewes weigh up to 170 pounds and the rams a third more.

and it is no longer necessary to sacrifice mutton conformation for wool producing qualities or the reverse.

Aside from their mutton and wool producing qualities, sheep have an economic value to the farmer. I have seen them devour burdocks and ragweed with relish, while they had an abundance of good tame grasses. If a trip were taken through a rural community of any highly developed section it would be found that nearly all the most progressive farmers keep sheep. They know that sheep take practically nothing from the soil. The care of them is important, but is an exceedingly pleasant task and requires very little labor during the busy season.

There is a pleasure in caring for good sheep that cannot be equalled in any other branch of farming. Nothing will instill a love of farm life in a boy sooner than the care of such animals. I know this by experience. When kept in fenced pastures they are not susceptible to disease. Stomach worms are the greatest menace, but may easily be avoided by keeping the lambs off old sod in warm weather. The northwest will not give up her supremacy in sheep raising, but "the old order changeth, yielding place to the new."

Coal For the Hogs.

Soft coal or charcoal is to the hog as pie to the boy. Give it to them in frequent doses. If a big bunch of pigs are allowed to sleep together in cramped quarters, in bad weather, they will pile up and the small under pigs suffer. Easy to separate them into lots of eight or ten each. A sow pig farrowing at one year old will, if she and her offspring produce the average number of animals, round up a herd of 500 at the end of the fourth year, provided there are no slips, no deaths, no runs.

Keep the Best Lambs.

It takes some grit to say "No" when the butcher gets his eye on the nicest lamb you have—the one you wanted to save for yourself—but that very lamb will by and by bring you a great deal more than the meat man will give you for it now if you keep it and do well by it. Get your gumption up, then, and say: "No, sir. I'm going to keep that lamb myself."

UNIVERSAL GOOD ROAD MOVEMENT

Every Country Represented at International Congress.

SPEECHES BY TAFT AND KNOX

President Declares Improved Highways Should Be National Issue—Cooperation Necessary if Movement Is to Succeed.

The movement for the improvement of highways throughout the world is slowly but surely advancing. This fact, of so much interest to those who are struggling for the want of better roads, was shown at the fourth international good roads congress and exposition held in Chicago from Sept. 18 to Oct. 1.

Every Country Interested.

Almost every country on earth was represented at the convention, showing how widespread the necessity for better thoroughfares is and how wide the field for this movement has become within the last few years.

The good roads congress was held under the auspices of the National Good Roads Association, of which Arthur C. Jackson, one of the greatest boosters of the good roads cause has, is president. The Chicago meeting was attended by some of the most prominent men in the country, including President Taft and Secretary of State Philander C. Knox.

President Taft attended the congress while on his "around the circle" swing. He delivered an interesting address, in which he declared that better roads should be a national issue, as there is nothing so important at present to the country as good highways.

All Suffer From Bad Roads.

Farmers are not the only ones who require good thoroughfares, the president said. The whole world, in fact, feels the effect of bad roads.

Mr. Knox also made a speech at the convention, in which he decried the lack of interest that is being shown by politicians toward the good roads cause.

One of the most interesting features of the congress was a photographic exposition pertaining to public highways and streets. Here were shown pictures of roads in various parts of the country both before and after improvements had been made. All those who were fortunate enough to witness this display were unanimous in agreeing that the advantages the improved roads had over the old ones were many.

The convention proved two important facts—first, that the movement for better roads is worldwide in scope and, second, that a wide co-operation is required if good highways are to become general.

Must Have Co-operation.

A local road improvement club is a good thing. In this way the local road improvement authorities can have the benefit of co-operation. It is essential to the permanent success of a local road club that it have a definite and continuous work to perform. It should seek to assemble all information that might be of local value in solving problems of road administration, construction and maintenance and should help the road authorities in carrying out in the best manner the duties of their positions. At the same time the club should not hesitate to insist upon efficient and thorough work on the part of the road authorities.

HOW GEORGE JACKSON BECAME A BALL PLAYER.

George Jackson, the Boston outfielder, one of the batting sensations of the National league, learned to hit by using a log for a bat and to catch by throwing a ball against a barn and catching it on the rebound. That was in Blum, Tex., his home.

None of the kids Jackson knew played ball. He made a ball of string, got a log and had the kids pitch to him.

Jackson went to town one day and learned two teams played there every Saturday. He asked for a chance to play and was offered carfare from his home to Blum. He hit and ran the bases so well his salary was raised to $3 in several weeks and then to $5.

Billy Hamilton, Boston scout, went to Memphis to look over Harry Crandall, brother of Oris Crandall of the Giants. Hamilton didn't think much of Crandall, but liked Jackson and signed him.

GOTCH MAY MEET ZBYSCO.

Wrestling Champion Will Grapple Giant Pole if He Gets Enough Money.

Stanislaus Zysco, the giant Pole, will be the next man to grapple with Champion Frank Gotch for the heavy-weight championship of the world. The conqueror of Hackenschmidt has practically assured Herman, manager of the Pole, of a date in the near future.

Two years ago Zysco met the peer of catch-as-catch-can head spinners in Buffalo, N. Y., and gave Gotch one of the merriest arguments of his career for one hour. Later Gotch disposed of his rival twice in 27 minutes. Gotch won the first fall in 6 seconds, but the Pole was taken unawares as the men were shaking hands.

Zysco, who is in Europe at present, will come to America in November for a tour similar to that of last season. On his first visit to this country the big Pole was practically new to the catch-as-catch-can style of wrestling. Up to that time his strong forte was the Greek-Roman style, in which he was practically invincible. For the last year Zysco has been practicing the catch-as-catch-can game. He has the weight and the strength, he believes, to give the present champion a run for the honors.

It's a matter of dollars and cents with Gotch. If the purse is forthcoming and Herman has the necessary backing the farmer will give action to the Pole. Gotch had intended to retire after his match with Hackenschmidt, but the easy manner in which he put away his most formidable rival has stirred his sporting instinct, and now he declares that he will throw all the aspirants to his crown before he goes into seclusion.

CHICAGO'S BIG TENPIN EVENT

American Bowling Congress to Hold Tournament March 2 to 24.

The next, or twelfth, annual American bowling congress international tournament will be held in Chicago March 2 to 24, 1912. They will use twenty-four of the best alleys, pin setters, pins, etc. It is expected that over 600 five man teams will be on hand. Over $40,000 in cash prizes will be given to the winners of the different events. The international amphitheater has been secured, with a seating capacity of 6,000 and a large annex that will be used for a palm garden during the tournament. All Chicago bowlers are on the entertainment committee, which will assure you that the visiting bowlers will be well taken care of.

The bowlers are talking of making Charley Comiskey, president of the Chicago American league baseball club, head of the A. B. C. next year.

PACKY AFRAID OF WOLGAST?

It is Questionable Whether Pair Will Ever Clash in Ring.

It would be interesting to know who stirred up the Wisconsin officials to prevent the proposed bout between McFarland and Champion Ad Wolgast recently. It was not the title holder. It is certain that McFarland drew a long breath when he realized he would not have to meet the Michigan wildcat. In spite of all talk of another match, it is questionable that McFarland will ever again be drawn into arranging another contest with the champion.

COMING SPORT EVENTS

New Orleans is making an effort to land the all around athletic championship for 1912.

The 1912 Olympic games at Stockholm, Sweden, will begin June 29 and conclude July 22.

The annual cross country run of the Intercollegiate association will be held at the Brookline (Mass.) Country club course on Nov. 25.

The Juarez (Mexico) Jockey club's winter meeting will open on Nov. 30. Racing will continue for a hundred days and possibly more.

DRINK CRAVING DESTROYED

No more terrible affliction can come to any home than the craving for strong drink of husband and father. We appeal to wives, mothers and sisters to save the husband and father or brother with Orine, a scientific treatment. ORINE is prepared in two forms: No. 1, secret treatment, a powder, absolutely tasteless and odorless, given secretly in food or drink; Orine No. 2 in pill form, is for those who desire to take voluntary treatment. ORINE costs only $1.00 a box. Call at our store for free booklet, telling all about this meritorious article, which have been selling for a number of years. THE Anatomical Side of the Corset

THE primary purpose of a corset is to give figure shapeliness. But don't shape your figure at the expense of your health. That's the reason why we so strongly recommend Henderson Corsets.

If you wear the proper style and size Henderson model, you can be certain you will be hygienically corseted. Henderson Corsets are constructed to conform to the anatomy of the figure. The displacing of superfluous flesh is done in accordance with hygienic principles.

Bear this in mind when you are buying your corset; let it influence you to visit our corset department and at least examine the splendid selection that we offer at popular prices.
